PROPOSED AMENDMENT

1. (Currently amended) A computerized method for learning a delivery point address and updating a database of such delivery point addresses by using unmatched or unused data from at least one mail piece, wherein the method comprises:

a. capturing a text string from an image of a first mail piece;

b. comparing the text string to a first set of preexisting data in the database to determine a match for the data on the mail piece according to a first set of predetermined rules;
